

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

- 5 A document scanning system is configured to submit user selected scanning parameters to a scanner from any one of a plurality of locations. The system includes a lockout to preclude execution of subsequently submitted scanning parameters prior to completion of a previously submitted scan job. The system further provides for delayed execution of a submitted scan job
- 10 until the user has provided a confirmation signal.